Help For Colleges

Through the generosity of an alumnus, Baldwin-Wallace College will soon be able to construct a modern library on the Berea campus, a big step in its proposed building program to keep pace with educational requirements of the immediate future. The gift of $152,000 has just been made by George W. Ritter, Toledo attorney and trustee of the college, as a contribution to the centennial fund. Goal of this fund is $1,250,000, of which $485,400 has been pledged.

A forward-looking program has been outlined for the college. Among the projects listed, in addition to the library, are a women's dormitory, a men's gymnasium, a home economics building, a chapel, an industrial arts building, a student council hall and other improvements.

Other colleges in Ohio and elsewhere throughout the country are as much in need of expansion and improvements. Their needs have been carefully planned, but they cannot proceed with their programs without financial support. Now is the time for men and women who, like Mr. Ritter, have the financial means to make substantial donations to these institutions of learning. Most of these institutions are handicapped by lack of funds, now so essential to put them in position to accept the challenge of the post-war period. Never was the need greater.

If No One Can Be Blamed

In groping for the truth about the Pearl Harbor disaster which almost counted out the United States before it began to fight, many an honest groper is willing to concede that so many persons probably were at fault no particular persons can be blamed.

That, as it happens, is precisely their reason for demanding more facts. The way the disaster was handled in 1941 and early in 1942, it appeared that certain military officials on the scene were at fault. The public was demanding scapegoats. The government, it now appears, was too anxious to supply them.

If no one can be blamed for Pearl Harbor because everybody was to blame, that is a fact worth establishing. It will distribute responsibility equitably throughout the whole establishment of government. It will put some of it on the people themselves, who were careless about what their government was doing. And it will acknowledge belatedly that a large share or responsibility must be given to the Japanese for a surprise blow well timed and perfectly executed—and so successful they admit its momentous results surprised them almost as much as the victim. Pearl Harbor was a disaster for the United States, but with the war over it can be admitted it was almost a triumph for Japan.

Till The Stands Runneth Over

One of the brightest of all the relatively important postwar prospects is a bumper football season. Japan might have had university athletic budgets and the professional game's boxoffices in mind when it decided to surrender in the middle of August, in time to let American football get going by the middle of September.

It is as certain as the fighting spirit of Notre Dame that the crowds will turn out this year till the stands runneth over into the nearby neighborhoods; that outstanding games will be made the focus for ration-free motorists from miles around; that the stars still in service never will be missed as the schedules are played out, except by the coaches; and that football will become the first of our great national industries to go all the way with postwar reconversion.

All this will be made considerably easier, of course, by the fact that football, except for certain minor dislocations, never really converted. Attendance fell off here and there during the war, but that was all that ever happened to football, unless one takes seriously the untrustworthy opinion of the coaches who insisted they couldn't win with their best players in the service—yet won more than their fair share of the games by the end of each "unsuccessful" season.

Leveling Off

The ups and downs of wartime psychology, which kept so many of us hesitating between belief in immediate victory or imminent defeat, are continuing to disturb America's national pulse at the beginning of peace.

Where postwar problems and prospects are concerned, there is too much fluctuating between extremes of optimism and pessimism—too much of playing Pollyanna one day and Job the next.

Though emerging successfully from one of the greatest trials any nation ever survived, the United States still hasn't outgrown its prewar habit of living in a condition of perpetual emergency. The fact is that nothing about its present condition can be called unusual in relation to the circumstances. If the circumstances themselves are to be called unusual, it would seem to follow that all circumstances or changes of circumstances must be called unusual.

In due course of time, national morale will stabilize itself on the obvious realities of the postwar era now beginning—an era in which there will be no wartime boom, no wartime dislocations and no wartime casualty lists. Those who seem to prefer to deal with peace as an even greater emergency than war itself are carrying the overworked emergency theme to a ridiculous extreme.

There is obvious need at the beginning of peace, as there was during the war, to reach a leveling-off point in popular psychology. America cannot deal with its problems successfully in an atmosphere of extremism. When we finally came to the common conclusion that the war could be won by steady effort, it was won. The peace can be won the same way.

Unlimited Destruction

The rapid accumulation of knowledge about the destruction caused in Japan by United States aerial attacks goes hand in hand with the accumulation of knowledge about Japanese brutality practiced on prisoners and internees. This makes the responsibility for the aerial attacks easier to bear, but it does not offset the burden that has come to rest on the American conscience with the end of the war.

What was done with our aerial power exceeded the dreams of our enemies, whose imaginations were limited by the limited ability of their industries to produce planes. The United States wrought destruction in Europe, in combination with Britain, and in Japan with no assistance that changed air power from an experiment to the major factor in war in the space of a few years.

Even before the atomic bomb, which merely spread death and destruction more efficiently, the United States had proved its ability to carry on unlimited destruction at will. The ruined cities of Japan and Germany are grim and mute testimony to a power so vast that most of us still cannot comprehend what its possession has meant and will continue to mean to the United States. Either every other nation will strive to equal it or exceed it, or all nations will combine to make its further use unnecessary. The horror film we need most to see is a feature-length review of what our aviation did to the key cities of Germany and Japan.

The Stars Say

For Saturday, September 15

ACCORDING to the dominant lunar and mutual aspects, this may be a day of adverse conditions, with danger of loss, difficulties and inharmonies in which the only progress may be made by a persistent and determined consolidation of the resources, energies, talents and ingenuity. There are dangers and threats from many quarters, and affecting all angles or contacts, personal and business, with finances especially critical. Shun extravagance, rash and tempestuous scenes, lest accident and regrets defeat best efforts.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year in which the only hope of profit and achievement must come from a profound consolidation of the energies, talents and resources with sustained effort and perseverance against all sorts of dangers, excitement, turbulent and rash actions.

Be alert to suspicious schemes and persons, refrain from strife, extravagance and indulgences which might invite physical injury or accident, or other regrettable incident. Preserve harmony at home.

A child born on this day may be impetuous, rash, indulgent and extravagant, although energetic and diligent when vitally concerned. Early discipline and direction are recommended.

Because cranes and road scrapers were not available, Japan asked General MacArthur to bring his own wrecking crew. Wouldn't the GI's love to take that literally!

When doctors gave Hermann Goering a soda mint he thought it was his usual sedative and fell right off to sleep—the dope!

A lot of our highways indicate somebody thinks we're going to switch over completely to air travel.

Doubtless the youngsters returning to school were disappointed to find that studies weren't rationed.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Some Causes Of Fatigue

By Herman N. Bundesen, M. D.

MANY persons who come into the doctor's office have just one complaint. They are fatigued or tired out. They have no pep. They have to drive themselves to go to work. All such people want their vitality restored over night, but this is not always an easy matter, for there are many causes for fatigue, and until the cause is found and removed the fatigue is likely to remain, and even then it takes time to restore them to full health. Unfortunately, according to Doctor Walter C. Alvarez, of Rochester, Minnesota, in many instances the fatigue is not due to any actual disease, but is often the result of some mental attitude or state of mind. In such instances, the fatigue is usually present in the morning, the patient wakes up with it, and it gradually wears off in the late afternoon.

Feels Better

About three or four o'clock in the afternoon, the patient may begin to feel so much better that by ten o'clock at night he is ready for activity of various types. Obviously, this fatigue is not due to a hard day's work because, if it were, it would most likely develop at night. Many of the tired people are somewhat frail and sickly.

It is not possible to make these people over, but their lives can be so adjusted as to avoid mental and physical strain insofar as possible. Many women are tired because they are unhappy and full of worry, and these worries may be of various types, of course, such as financial troubles, etc. In such instances, the matter of relieving tiredness is one of readjusting the person's attitude toward his difficulties.

Actual Disorders

Among the many actual disorders which can contribute to tiredness which is not due to mental attitudes, are high blood pressure, hyperthyroidism, that is, excessive secretion from the thyroid gland, and hypothyroidism or lack of thyroid secretion. Heart disease is a less common cause for constant fatigue. Often an attack of influenza will leave a person tired for weeks or months, but this, as a general rule, clears up sooner or later. In older people, occasionally, a small hemorrhage into the brain will occur which may cause some tiredness together with mental confusion and other symptoms.

The fatigue, however, in some instances is, according to Doctor Alvarez, a sign of nervous breakdown or psychoneurosis.

In each instance, then, the proper thing to do is to find the cause behind the condition and to relieve it by such means as are available.

HIRED HAND STILL FARMER PROBLEM

Termination of War Fails To End Shortage of Farm Workers

BY JOHN FRYE

COLUMBUS, Sept. 14 — Ohio farmers, many up in years and lacking of getting, have found the termination of the war brought no end to their problem of hired help.

Tom Wheeler, information assistant at Ohio State university's emergency farm labor office, described the situation today as "tight" and added except for sons of farmers, few war veterans were returning to the soil.

Wheeler said a statewide sampling of 1,047 farmers in August showed a demand for 422 year-round workers and 4,000 seasonal hands for harvesting. Bureau of Agricultural Economics figures showed that as of Jan. 1 farm labor supply was 42 per cent of normal and demand 99 per cent.

In 1933, at the depth of the depression, the supply was 131 per cent of normal and demand 53 per cent, and in 1939, when the war began to take men, the respective percentages were 94 and 81.

Complicating any farm labor study is the number of family workers receiving no wages—a figure that has remained almost constant at about 1.7 persons per farm since 1932—plus growing use of machinery to replace hand work.

Food Production Up
Statisticians point out although the average number of hired workers employed two or more days a week on Ohio farms declined from 63 on Sept. 1, 1936 to 43 on the same date in 1944. With a rise only to 47 a year later, the state's food production is at record levels.

Wheeler said today's immediate need was for seasonal workers, especially for harvesting tomatoes in northwestern Ohio. However, he predicted the need for year-round workers would be present for some time.

"The farmers themselves average over middle age and many of them are getting old and have pulled out of farms through this war with little hired help," he said. "They'd like to ease up now."

Contributing to the scarcity of farm help is the fact farm wages do not compare in cash with industrial wages, Wheeler said.

War workers are not returning to the farms in numbers hoped for, he said, and some farm youths have been drawn to the cities by the bigger pay. Farm jobs in Ohio pay from $50 to $100 a month, depending on the work and whether the farmer provides housing and other necessities.

Lauds School Youths
Wheeler praised the work of high school boys and girls who did much of the summer work during the war years.

However, he suggested farmers and processors might have to form cooperative associations in the future to take care of migrant labor for the peak seasons by arranging transportation and housing.

Such workers as Jamaicans and Mexicans would be moved from crop to crop as needed.

Two thousand Jamaicans and Mexicans, plus more than 500 prisoners of war, now are working in Ohio fields.

GAS WELL BLOWN IN AT DAMASCUS

DAMASCUS, Sept. 14 — A gas well was blown in on the property of W. J. West Tuesday. It is estimated to produce between two and a half to three million cubic feet.

The well was capped Tuesday and soon after midnight the packing in the tubing was blown. A crew of workmen from Wooster came Wednesday to pull the 3,500 feet of tubing and repack it.

The gas well on the John Wuthrick farm proved to be a duster so far, and the company expects to drill to a depth of 5,800 feet.

Clark Invents Device For Fingerprint Work

LISBON, Sept. 14 — Slot machines may be viewed with strong disapproval by many people but to Deputy Sheriff Howard Clark the one-armed bandits proved somewhat of a boon when he was called upon Monday evening to perform a post-mortem fingerprint job.

Having no regular post-mortem finger printing "spoon" Clark took stock of materials at hand and discovered that a part of the coin channel of a slot machine, of which there are several in the Sheriff's office, having been confiscated in earlier raids, filled the bill perfectly.

Clark proceeded with the job and reported afterwards that his emergency "spoon" worked as well as, if not better than, the specially made device generally used in such cases. All goes to show that necessity really is the mother of invention.

Party Gives Away Secret Of Engagement

The engagement of Ann Davis and Frederick J. Schmidt was revealed to 15 of her friends at a party given by the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Russell Skorpinski, last night at their home on Summit st.

In the contract bridge games prizes were awarded Miss Mollie Schmidt, Miss Louise Zeck and Miss Joyce Malloy.

A buffet lunch was served. The table, laid with a white linen cloth, was graced with a bouquet of garden flowers. The guests were let into the secret when they received their tally cards, which were a design of two pink hearts and on the inside was written the names of the prospective bride and groom.

The bride-elect, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Skorpinski, of Summit st., is a graduate of Salem High school with the class of '40 and is employed in Trolly's jewelry store.

Mr. Schmidt, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Schmidt, of Euclid st., was graduated from Salem High school in '41 and attended Ohio university at Athens for two years. He was honorably discharged from the U. S. Navy last January. He is employed by the Salem Engineering Co.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Wounded Vet Speaker At Class Meeting

Pfc. Paul Roher, who was wounded in action in the South Pacific, gave an interesting account of his experiences to members of the Elizabeth Frye and Men's Bible classes of the First Friends church at a dinner meeting last night in the church.

Roher's talk took the form of a "trip" which started at San Francisco with stops at New Guinea, Leyte and Mindanao. He described the climate and natives of the islands. He was on scout duty on Mindanao when he was shot by the Japs. He was wounded in the upper part of his back. He was returned to the states in a General hospital in Louisville, Ky.

Other numbers on the program were: Vocal duet, Rev. R. E. Mosher and Mrs. Clarence Townsend; reading, "A Single Head of Wheat," Miss Pearl Walker; selections by a male quartet composed of Rev. Mosher, Charles Odgen, Oscar McCormam and Homer Ellyson; reading, "It's September," Edwin Mosher; piano solo, Harold Schisler; Mrs. Henry Wolfgang and Mrs. Homer Ellyson were the accompanists.

Orlan Wank arranged the program and presided. The dinner was served by a committee composed of Mrs. Ellyson, Mrs. R. E. Mosher and Mrs. Oscar McCormam.

Naomi Walker To Wed In Sept. 21 Ceremony

Open church will be observed when Miss Naomi Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Walker of the Ellsworth rd., and Fred Ruprecht, Sr., of Chicago, are married at 7 p. m. Friday, Sept. 21, in the First Friends church. The pastor, Rev. R. E. Mosher, will officiate.

Mrs. Walker, a graduate of Salem High school, was employed by the City Loan Co. until recently.

Ruprecht, a discharged veteran, was in the air corps four and a half years. For 38 months he was in the China-Burma-India theater.

21 Louisiana Dowries Result From 1824 Will

PORT ALLEN, La.—More than 100 years ago, Louisiana's first poet and the richest man of his time left the bride's family shall give a considerable cash sum or piece of land to the husband at the time of marriage.

Poydras' sweetheart was very poor; her family could not afford a dowry. And even though the ardent suitor cared nothing for the dowry, French custom ruled against the match and the marriage never took place.

Broken-hearted, he joined the French navy and never returned to his native land. He came to America and found fame and fortune in that New France which became Louisiana.

This year 21 brides of West Baton Rouge Parish are eligible for dowries arising from interest on the original investment as directed in the Frenchman's will in 1824.

The man was Julien Poydras, whose romance had been blighted in France by the age-old custom of dowrying, which provides that the bride's family shall give a considerable cash sum or piece of land to the husband at the time of marriage.

Poydras' sweetheart was very poor; her family could not afford a dowry. And even though the ardent suitor cared nothing for the dowry, French custom ruled against the match and the marriage never took place.

Broken-hearted, he joined the French navy and never returned to his native land. He came to America and found fame and fortune in that New France which became Louisiana.

This year 21 brides of West Baton Rouge Parish are eligible for dowries arising from interest on the original investment as directed in the Frenchman's will in 1824.

Russian Experiments At Grafting Of Hearts

LONDON—A Soviet scientist was reported today to have begun the first experiments in grafting a heart onto warm-blooded animals.

His experiments were reported in the Russian embassy publication, Soviet War News.

The publication said that Prof. Smitsin of the Gorky Medical Institute completed his experiments with hearts of cold-blooded animals, having successfully transplanted hearts of frogs.

In the frog experiments Smitsin first put hearts excised from other frogs onto the necks of a host. This accomplished, he later was able to excise the heart of the host frog and, through the mouth transplant all warm-blooded animals with signs of trouble for about six months, when all except a few died.

Now, Soviet War News said, Smitsin is trying similar experiments with cats, dogs and rabbits, all warm-blooded animals with more complicated heart structures. The grafting of extra hearts onto the necks of these animals so far has been successful, with all signs that the grafted heart is functioning. Determining the length of life and the possibility of actually transplanting hearts are being studied.

30,000 STILL IDLE AT WESTINGHOUSE

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 14—Nearly 30,000 Westinghouse Electric Corp. employees remained idle in six states today after collapse of peace talks the last two days in Washington.

The War Labor board reiterated its position it would not reconsider the demand of the Westinghouse "white collar" workers for a bonus or incentive pay system unless the employees return to their jobs.

Leo P. Bollens, president of the Federation of Westinghouse Independent Salaried Unions, declared: "Nothing appreciable has been accomplished by our trip to the capital."

Bollens, like the other 16 delegates to the WLB conference in Washington, was scheduled to report back to his local union today or tomorrow. Union spokesmen gave no indication that steps were being taken to heed the WLB's back to work order.

City Plans To Donate Lots To Returned Vets

HURON, S. D.—Any honorably discharged veteran of World War II who wants to build a home in Huron, S. D., may soon be able to secure a 50 by 165 foot residential lot free.

The William Reaves post of the American Legion is backing a plan to acquire several hundred tax delinquent lots for donation as home sites for servicemen. City commissioners have agreed to recommend abatement of delinquent taxes on such property. Final action on abatement must come from county commissioners.

J. C. Johnson, local realtor and World War I veteran, who originated the idea, expects the 750,000-acre irrigation project approved for postwar construction along the James river to create many new jobs and opportunities here. His plan is to make residential lots available free to non-resident as well as resident servicemen.

Dust Treatment Aids In Combating Disease

CHICAGO—A far cry from the first recorded method of grain and seed treatment—soaking it in sea water—is today's dusting that kills the organisms on the seed.

Chemical methods of application have been in use for 40 years, but it was not until the recent dust treatments were introduced did seed protection become widely popular.

Today, nearly all seed is either dusted or given a fumigation before planting, which results in more nearly complete control of seed-borne diseases.

Four Generals From Ohio Help Win in Pacific

Jeep Overrated As New Tractor, Expert Declares

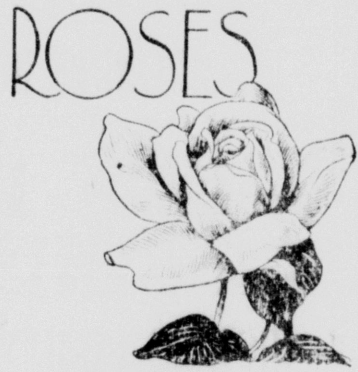

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. — The Army jeep has a "variety of possibilities" for farm use, but it probably won't supplant the tractor, according to a Pennsylvania State College farm machinery expert.

"As a substitute for the tractor, the jeep is badly overrated," said
A. W. Clyde, professor of agricultural engineering, who has directed jeep-farm experiments for two years. "Its transmission is unsuited for field speeds and is not built to withstand continuous field work."

But Prof. Clyde believes the jeep will serve a practical purpose as truck, chore boy, or puller of trailers. He suggested that the jeep be looked upon as a power unit—a "hybrid" which can go places and do things which are impossible for the ordinary pick-up truck.

If the following features were added, its value to the farmer would be greatly increased, according to Prof. Clyde; a pulley for belt work, a speed governor, a more rugged transmission and clutch, a body better adapted to miscelaneous hauling, and a cab which affords increased protection from dust.

That's by clearing the way for his long distance telephone call carrying the glad tidings of his homecoming. You can help by doing two things:

1 Make only urgent long distance calls during the next few months when circuits will be jammed with service men's calls home.

2 Be brief. When others are wait-

Declarations On Coal Use No Longer Needed

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Household coal consumers no longer will have to file declarations of their requirements with dealers. In making this known today, solid fuel officials reported a "more plentiful" supply of some substitute fuels—all soft coals—although the agency emphasized that better types of fuels, such as eastern anthracite and the high volatile soft coals continue to be short. Yesterday the SFA removed regulations limiting household consumers to 80 per cent of their "normal."

or prewar coal needs. Beginning today dealers may supply as much coal of all types to consumers as dealer-stocks warrant. But the dealers themselves still are receiving from the mines about 80 per cent of their prewar supplies of the higher grade coals. Thus domestic consumers are not expected to receive any appreciable increase in coal supplies unless they use some substitute fuels.

It's "Peanut Glue" Now, And Good For Nearly Anything

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE AP Science Editor

NEW ORLEANS—A new kind of glue has been developed from peanuts here at the Southern Regional Laboratory of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

This goober glue will make postage stamps that won't stick in hot weather. But was moistened for use the glue is one of the quickest and most secure any yet made.

The peanut glue makes an envelope seal of equally high quality. Other probable uses include book binding and making paperboard boxes.

There is no peanut or other flavor, in case there is licking to do. The glue's great advantage is tackiness or stickiness. The peanut adhesive has the sticky qualities of fly paper in holding fast but is perfectly dry to the touch before moistening.

Color Useful Another advantage for boxes and books is the light color of the glue. A thin coating, for instance, does not appreciably affect the color of the surface to which it is applied.

It is also a cold glue. No heating is required as in animal glues.

The glue is virtually pure peanut protein, mixed with a little water. It is made by first extracting the oils and then isolating the protein from the other non-protein fractions of peanuts. The development was done by R. S. Burnett of the Southern Laboratory.

Burnett has also made a glue for plywood out of peanut meal, a significant byproduct of the peanut oil business. It is residue after peanut oil has been extracted.

Has Other Uses For plywood construction the meal glue does about as good a job as casein glue, which is made from skim milk.

The peanut glue is also considerably cheaper than casein glue. Another advantage of the meal glue is that when properly made it requires no further processing to be used as an adhesive. This meal is sold for chicken feed and the industrial manufacturing processes vary. But some of them, which produce a good chicken feed, also makes good plywood glue.

Palace Meals More than 150 breakfasts, lunches and dinners are served daily to various members of the royal household of Buckingham Palace, London.

OPPORTUNITIES Opportunities to buy to advantage are found daily in The News classified advertising columns.

Mahoning's Hospital Work Wins Approval

CLEVELAND, Sept. 14.—The War Production board announced today approval of a request costing $20,000 at a hospital in Austintown township.

The project calls for construction of a boiler and laundry building, an addition to the nurses' home, doctors' residences, extension of a water line, and installation of radiators, fans and tanks.

Plenty of Water

"Old Faithful" geyser, in Youngstone National Park, spouts more than 1,500,000 gallons of water at each display, and could supply the water needs of a city the size of Denver.

Questions and Answers On Problems of the Servicemen

WASHINGTON—Here are some questions from GIs who have just returned from overseas:

Q. I will be out of the Army in about two weeks and want to get started back to college for this fall semester if possible. They tell me that getting the Government to send us to school involves a lot of red tape and that I might not be able to make it in time. What do you suggest as the fastest possible method of making application, and do you think I will be able to make it for the coming semester?

A. If you meet all the qualifications for the educational benefits there is no reason why you can't get your application approved in time. Go to your nearest Veterans Administration office and fill out and file Veterans Administration Form 1080, with the Regional Office. The application must be accompanied by a certified photostatic copy of your certificate of discharge or release.

Q. I've been looking around for a job for the last couple of weeks and although there are plenty of openings there isn't anything that just suits me. What unemployment compensation is due me as a vet in case I want to keep looking for a while?

A. You can get a maximum weekly allowance of $20 a week while you are unemployed. Depending upon your time in the service, you can get this for a maximum of 52 weeks.

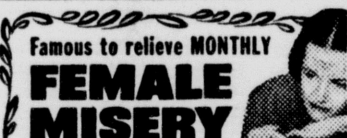

Q. If a veteran is getting an increased pension, or a subsistence allowance for educational purposes, he is eligible to receive readjustment allowances?

A. No.
Q. The Government has refused to give me my readjustment allowance because they claim I turned down a good job that was offered to me. Can they do this legally?

A. Yes, if they prove you actually did turn down a good job.

Disease Persisted

Seeman Studio Will Be Ten Years Old Saturday

Seeman's Studio, 145 E. State st., operated by Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Seeman, will celebrate its tenth anniversary in business in Salem Saturday.

Seeman, a World War I veteran, was a partner of M. S. Fishback in the Fishback Studios here in 1922. He moved to Norfolk, Neb., where he lived for 13 years returning to Salem Sept. 15, 1935, when the present business was established.

During the ten years the Seeman Studio has made over 10,000 portrait pictures of family groups, including five and four generations, wedding couples and parties, and servicemen.

In the near future Mr. and Mrs. Seeman plan to have a residence studio at 1135 E. State st. Modern equipment and backgrounds for taking all kinds of pictures will go into the new studio.

CANFIELD'S FAMOUS benzol BLEND GASOLINE

THE BENZOL DOES IT . . . and every Canfield Dealer is ready to serve you with this famous, really different, liquid lightning motor fuel.

Now you can enjoy really outstanding motor performance and smooth zooming power . . . you'll practically eliminate motor knocks, ping and cackle . . . no matter how steep the hill or heavy the load, your motor will accelerate with smooth, knock-free power.

Why Canzol Extra is different!

- 1—BECAUSE IT IS SUPER-CHARGED with a powerful percentage of highly volatile benzol unobtainable during the war.
- 2—ITS HIGH BENZOL CONTENT produces a sensationally different motor fuel that vaporizes much faster than ordinary gasolines.
- 3—ITS HIGH BENZOL CONTENT tremendously increases the volatility and octane rating of this famous gasoline, thereby improving power, compression and performance.
- 4—ITS HIGH BENZOL CONTENT acts as a carbon solvent, reducing gum and carbon formation on spark plugs, rings, pistons, valves and cylinders.
- 5—ITS HIGH BENZOL CONTENT makes it practically impossible to produce a knock, ping or cackle in your motor under any load, climb or get-a-way condition.
- 6—ITS HIGH BENZOL CONTENT is literally liquid dynamite in your motor—you'll get a new thrill in driving your car, truck or tractor . . . you'll enjoy smoother power and split-second starting under all weather and temperature conditions.

DRIVE IN AT ANY CANFIELD STATION and ask for Canzol Extra. Once you try it, you'll always buy it . . . it's liquid dynamite in your motor.

NEW VEL MAKES OIHO HARD WATER ACT Soft!

Vel gives you instant suds in hard water, without a water softener! No more dish wiping!

NOW...with Vel's quick, rich, busy suds you can whip through the dishes in a flash! Suds 'em...rinse 'em...leave 'em to drain! Dishes sparkle without wiping because Vel leaves no pesky hard water soap scum. Vel is kind to hands too. It contains Coco-Cerol...an ingredient used in hand lotions. Vel, you know, is not soap. It is a remarkable new washing discovery scientifically known as a neutral hydrophylic detergent.

Because of present day conditions, your grocer may not always have Vel, but look for it each time you shop.

SAVE MONEY!

You need only about half as much Vel as soap to make suds in hard water. That means a real saving!

Stockings wash up sparkling clear!

With Vel, there's no hard water soap film to cloud the sheer beauty of your precious stockings. They rinse out clear and fresh - looking. Vel is wonderful for all your fine things.

3 Grid Games Opens District Card

Salem-Rhodes Game Here; Potters And Bengals Start

The third of the punted football—music to the ears of the ardent sports fan—will herald the opening of the 1945 gridiron season at Reilly stadium at 7:45 tonight when Salem High clashes with Cleveland Rhodes.

Two other Columbiana county schools—East Liverpool and Wellsville—also open the season tonight, while Columbiana, Lisbon, Leetonia and East Palestine begin operations in daylight games tomorrow.

Salem enters its game here tonight underdogs as the Cleveland team brings weight, experience and the mental edge to combat Coach Barrett's charges. One of the largest crowds for an opening game here is expected to see the colorful fray.

East Liverpool meets a veteran-packed Steubenville Central Catholic squad in the Pottery City opening game and picking a winner there is a tough assignment.

The Potters have size, ability and plenty of veterans themselves, but Steubenville power is impressive enough to rate them even with their first opponents.

Wellsville tackles Youngstown North (formerly Scienceville) in the Bengaltown opener and although the Wellsville outfit is starving for experienced men, they are said to have plenty of potential.

WEEKEND SCHEDULE IN SALEM DISTRICT

TONIGHT
Rhodes at Salem, 7:45.
Steubenville at E. Liverpool, 8 p. m.
Ygst. North at Wellsville, 8 p. m.

Saturday
E. Palestine at Leetonia 2 p. m.
Lisbon at Columbiana, 2 p. m.

Sunday
All-Breed Dog Show, Reilly field.
Salem A. C. vs Portage All-Stars 2:30 p. m. (baseball) at Centennial park.
Salem vs Poland (polo) 3 p. m., Newgarden st. field.

ly powerful-material which would rate them an edge over an Army-robed North squad.

Saturday's games in the county pit Leetonia against East Palestine at Leetonia. Lisbon journeys to match Johnny Cabus' Columbiana Clippers on the Firestone park field.

Leetonia rates a heavy nod over East Palestine and the Clippers should turn the trick over Lisbon without much trouble.

Lisbon, under a new coach this year, has a host of lettermen back, but they are not yet experienced veterans as yet. Columbiana has a powerhouse line, led by capable Carl Sheets, who has been doing a bang-up job at a tackle position.

Leetonia's power, now harnessed under the guidance of Coach Charle Mather, is expected to display itself in full bloom against a graduation-riddled Bulldog lineup.

Minus their 1944 backfield power and good share of the line that knotted the count with Leetonia then, East Palestine is expected to take it on the chin.

AMERICAN LEAGUE TO START; OTHER LOOP LACKS TEAMS

Masonic Alley Entries Full In Monday Loop But Tuesday Shy

The American league will open its bowling season on the Masonic alleys Monday night, but the National league will not get started Tuesday, as planned, because it lacks two of the eight teams needed.

Tom Reese is president of the American league, Earl Richardson of Lisbon is vice president and George Hempstead of Lisbon secretary-treasurer.

The eight teams and their captains follow: Demings, Wilson Morlan; Wiggers, George Mitchell; Jayness, Wm. Wagoner; Firestones, Bill Juergens; Fernengels, Tom Reese; Lisbon Masons, George Hempstead; Elks, H. I. Hine; Meissners, Wm. Meissner.

Starting times at 6:45 and 8:45, the first shift being required to roll no later than 7.

Use Point System

The four-point system was adopted again, one point for each game and one for total pins. Team average must not exceed 850 and individuals taken from other leagues must not have averages above 175.

To postpone a match, the opposing team and the alley operator must be notified by 1 p. m. of the day match is scheduled.

Schedule for the opening night next Monday follows:
6:45—Demings vs Wiggers; Jayness vs Firestones; 8:45—Fernengels vs Lisbon; Elks vs Meissners.

The National league will hold another meeting Tuesday night in an effort to fill its team roster and schedule its opening matches the following week. Anyone interested in backing a team in this league is asked to contact Bill Juergens or Curt Phillips at the Masonic temple.

OILS HAMMER OUT 4-2 VICTORY OVER MULLINS 'A' ENTRY

Keith Slinger Paces Oilers With Homer, Double In Two Times At Bat

Once again—for the sixth time in seven meetings—the Sinclair Oils defeated Mullins.

This time was all-important and the 4-2 victory last night sewed up the Class A city title for the youngsters after the series had been knotted with one game each.

Dependable Mutt Schaeffer hurled three hit ball and pulled out of some of the deepest holes a pitcher can be forced into consistently.

He walked three men and fanned two while Marty Pauline of Mullins gave up five hits and walked but two men. He struck out none.

Schaeffer was handicapped last night by a bevy of seven errors as his mates seemed to be away off their fielding game. The contest was far from a smooth one, although Steve Zatkos' throw from left field to cut off Umberger at the plate in the first frame was one of the prettiest plays of the series.

Sloppy Game
Otherwise, play was sloppy and in being so was entertaining to the some 700 fans who witnessed the fray at Reilly stadium.

Sinclair got their first run again last night on a homer, tagged by Keith Slinger into the right field bleachers. He parked another against the right field seats for a double in his other trip to the plate.

Two runs followed Slinger's first in the third inning and Sinclair led 3-0. They added another in the fourth.

The fourth on Slinger's double, which scored Eddie Bosick.

Mullins failed to rally until the sixth when they got one. They added their final in the last frame and a rally was cut short when Cerdv Scullion lined out to Bosick at roving short.

COLUMBIANS WIN 13-7 IN MADHOUSE CLASS B STRUGGLE

Errors, Miscues And Poor Play Feature Jay-Teen Defeat In Final

The Columbians tied up the city title in a far from neat package last night as the Jay-Teen blew its top, the Irish followed suit and things ended up in a wild and wooly 13-7 Irish victory.

As a grand finale for the 1-1 series, last night's game was far from a good one. Errors, mental miscues and generally sloppy play featured the contest.

The Irish stepped off to a 4-1 lead in the first as the Jay-Teeners made one run for themselves. A home run in the second by Juicy Karlis made it 4-3, but in the next frame the Jay-Teen sunk into a seven run Irish barrage and were obviously through for the night.

Pitcher Lindsey Bowman developed a sore arm when the hitting got heavy and Jim Laughlin took over and turned in a superior show. The diminutive Laughlin had showed plenty of steam and a reasonable amount of control. He fanned several Columbians and only allowed two runs after he entered the game.

The Irish added one run in the fourth and another in the sixth to their already high total.

Dog Show Presents Interesting Variety For Salem Sport Fans

If you are one of those interested persons who plan to attend the All-Breed dog show at Reilly stadium Sunday, but are not quite sure when to attend or what to look for, you're probably in the same boat with a lot of folks who will jam the stadium.

Dog breeders, professional handlers and interested amateur dog-lovers will be at the stadium in throngs—but so will the laymen, who is there just because he likes dogs and wants to look at them.

WITH AMERICAN MARINES ON JAPAN—The best wisecrack of the occupation of Japan was made by a hardfaced leatherneck the day of the original landing.

Marines had waded ashore on Puttsu peninsula in Tokyo bay still uncertain whether all would be as peaceful as portended. Their rifles were loaded and they carried the usual supply of grenades, mortars and other "Jap convincers."

After a long, hot weary walk we came to the enemy's army training camp in the central one of three forts on the peninsula. It had been evacuated and only two officers and an interpreter were waiting to turn the fort over to the marines, who were hot and dispirited and half wishing somebody would start a fight anyway.

The interpreter was a retired Japanese chauffeur from Long Island. He was a grotesque figure with big ears soaring past his close cropped head and oversized bifocal glasses. He wore a faded and wrinkled gray uniform several sizes too small for him. He had wrap-around leggings on his bony calves and big floppy shoes that made him walk like a duck.

After inspecting the odd caricature for several minutes and listening to his singsong English that sounded like a burlesque comedian imitating a Japanese butler, a leatherneck jammed his rifle butt to the ground and exclaimed: "Now I know what happened to vaudeville!"

Marines chuckled in sympathy when they saw one released American prisoner board a boat for the United States. He had been a civilian worker on Wake island and was thin and dressed like a scarecrow, but plenty lighthearted.

"Don't worry about me, boys," he laughed. "My salary has been going on all this time and I figure I should have between $14,000 and $18,000 waiting for me, counting bonuses. That'll keep me in steaks for some time."

Speaking of money, many marines are beating their skulls against the wall for throwing away the Japanese souvenir bills they picked up on other islands and either threw away or sent home to friends thinking they were worthless.

It turns out the bills are still the currency of the land and quite nice things to have in big wads in your billfold.

"When I think how many bales of that stuff I threw away," groaned one marine. "Why I tossed off enough of those 100-yen bills to have bought the emperor's palace and stocked it with geisha girls—two to a room."

Tall marines are suffering considerable anguish as a result of being quartered in the barracks of the Japanese, who as a race don't grow much higher than sea level.

"These people must have been raised on dehydrated rice," moaned one six-foot leatherneck after crashing into a low Japanese doorway. "I don't mind their damned midget tanks, because I don't have to ride in them. But damn their doll houses anyway—they make us live in them."

Kissing as a mark of respect is mentioned in the Bible as early as the 27th chapter of Genesis.

GREENFORD

Plans are in progress for the Green township fall festival and school fair, to be held at the school building Friday evening, Sept. 21.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Weikart of Apollo, Pa. and Mr. and Mrs. Orlin Dressel were recent dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Clay.

In honor of Pfc. Robert Slagle's birthday, Mrs. Lottie Slagle recently entertained Miss Ellen Knauf and Leonard Charlton who is on a furlough from the navy.

Harold Coy visited recently with M. L. Kindig.

Miss Bernice Schaefer spent the past several days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Schaefer.

Class Entertained

The King's Daughters' class of the Lutheran church was entertained Monday at the home of Mrs. Frank Hampton. Mrs. George Coy led the devotions, and Mrs. Raymond Hendricks gave meditation. Each member is to come masked to the next meeting. Mrs. Harold Feicht will be hostess.

James Feicht has returned to his home after spending seven weeks in the Youngstown South Side City hospital with a fractured neck.

The Ladies' Aid of the Christian church held its meeting last week at the church.

Charles Maxwell, who returned to Camp Atterbury, Ind., last week following a 30-days furlough, was given an honorable discharge and returned to his home Tuesday. He spent 23 months in the European theater.

Pvt. Edward Slagle, who recently went overseas reports he is now on Saipan.

The Ladies' Aid of the Lutheran church met Monday evening at the church parlors.

Mrs. J. H. Howe was hostess this afternoon to the Home Circle club.

Relatives of the late Eli Slagle family recently held a picnic dinner at the home of Mrs. Inetta Slagle.
